Answer Key

1. B) He will have been working all day. — Future perfect continuous uses will have been + -ing (working). Others are different tenses.
2. B) Duration of ongoing action to a future point — FPC highlights how long an action will continue until a stated future moment.
3. C) will have been working — 'Will have been working' (FPC) shows the duration of ongoing work by a future time.
4. C) She will have been studying for hours. — 'Will have been studying' is the correct FPC form with the -ing verb.
5. Reference point in future: next year Action: study English Duration: 5 years Structure: will have been + -ing (studying) Meaning: By next year, 5 years will have passed since I started.
6. Reference point: when she arrives (future) Action: wait Duration: 2 hours Tense: will have been + -ing (waiting) Meaning: Two hours of waiting will have occurred by her arrival
7. Reference point: December (future) Action: build the house Duration: 8 months Structure: will have been + -ing (building) Note: Emphasizes how long the action will continue
8. An action that will have been ongoing until a specific future time; formed with will have been + -ing.
9. will + have + been + verb-ing (e.g., will have been working, will have been eating, will have been running).
10. To show how long an action will have been in progress by a stated future time.
